The effective way for groups to plan, discuss and decide

- Visual templates for critical and organised thinking.
- Customisable rules and brainstorming styles.
- Individual responses which combine to reveal the results.
- More engagement, participation and real time feedback.
- More insightful than a poll, more focused than a tweet and days faster than paper based options.

Think better together.

Customise to fit your own facilitation process

Groupmap is very flexible so you can build the team facilitation around your own process.

Choose how your group reaches consensus. We’ve given all the tools you need to prioritise, rate and vote.

Think better together.
Share the outcomes

Reports let you provide evidence and transparency of the group decision making process.

Some of our GroupMappers
We really enjoyed using GroupMap to do an ideation workshop. It was great to get real time ideas, and also lessen the time to act on them. (leadership was amazed that I wasn't going to have to spend days entering post-its!)

I really enjoyed this planning session and I think GroupMap provides an excellent platform for everyone to have their input and still keep the process efficient.

Format: Collaborative work teams

12 month work planning
5-10 people

• What are our successes and failures over the last 12 months?
• What are the key priorities for the next 12 months?
• How can we resolve some of these challenges?
• How can we make our city more sustainable, innovative and safe?
Wider Stakeholder Consultation

Case example: Public Sector Innovation Conference

Identify approaches to drive efficiency on 6 areas in the public sector

150 people

- Develop a SMART goal to be shared with the group
- How might we address ...(6 different perspectives)
- Prioritise the top 6 ideas according to level of value vs impact
Organisational Change
Case example: Curtin University Living our Values project.
Format: Open Space Technology and Senior Executive Summit

80-200 people

Which of these values do you think our organisation should take forward with us?

What behaviours support the values you most resonate with?

How can we integrate values into our people, systems, structures and strategy?
